2016 Authors

Ausma Zehanat Khan

A British born Canadian, Ausma is the author of The Unquiet Dead and The Language of Secrets both of which are mysteries which shine light on the Bosnian War atrocities and are written from the perspective of war victims. Her debut novel was on the New York Times best seller list. Ausma has a PhD in International Human Rights Law with a specialty in military intervention and Balkan war crimes. In addition to practicing immigration law and teaching law, she was the editor in chief of Muslim Girl Magazine, the first magazine targeted to young Muslim women. She now lives in Denver with her husband.

Dr. J David Remple

Dr. Remple has had a lifelong fascination with animals which began in childhood with a special focus on birds of prey. He received a BA in zoology from the University of Colorado and a DVM from CSU. Following a military term in the USAF he operated a private veterinary practice in Wyoming. During that time he was a consulting veterinarian for the Peregrine Fund created for the restoration of the DDT-decimated peregrine falcon population in North America. In 1983 he and his wife, Cheryl, were invited to found the world's first hospital for hunting falcons by the Deputy Ruler of Dubai. This hospital earned international recognition by the Wall Street Journal, NBC's Today Show and CBS's Sixty Minutes. Footprints on the Toilet Seat is a story of their experience establishing a hospital and working with the falcons in this different culture.

Maggie Sefton

After beginning her writing career in historical fiction under a pen name, Maggie Sefton now writes mysteries. She is the New York Times best-selling author of the Berkley Crime Knitting Mysteries and the Molly Malone Suspense Mysteries. She is a former real estate agent and CPA. She once lived in the Washington DC area and is an avid knitter. Both of these influences show up in her writing. She has written more than 25 books. She has lived in Fort Collins and her knitting mysteries are set in Fort Conner with many references which you will recognize come from northern Colorado.
