CELEBRATING OUR NCCWSL SUCCESS and its impact on community!

Featuring: Hayley Kirkman

NCCWSL Awardee in 2016; B.A. in Graphic Design from Fort Lewis College where she was involved as a designer for the Village Aid Project and the Environmental Center; approached by Local First in June 2017 to do contracted mural work for their organization, and soon hired onto their team as Creative Arts and Special Projects Coordinator; responsible for all things graphic design: from hiring local artists and interns, to administering public art, to grant writing and social media management. Haley is currently leading the way to complete a community mural on Narrow Gauge Ave.; and she is active in the pursuit of establishing Durango as a certified Creative District. What does that mean? How will it build our community? Don't miss this chance to hear from one of our own about the creative arts and community.
